Gear Makes a Joke of Judicial Expenses.

SPECIAL SESSION

Usual Sensational Features Are Lacking in Charge to the August Jury.

The grand jury for the August term was charged by Judge Gear yesterday His usual sensational statements were lacking, and the court contented itself in dealing only with the formal duties of a grand jury, adding a few side remarks on the condition of the public treasury and the possibility that the August term may be brought to an end before the required time, by reason of lack of funds. He referred jokingly to the charge of extravagances made against the circuit court and invited the jury to come into his chambers and make an investigation of the expenditures made by him.

George Kluegel was appointed foreman and Nigel Jackson, will act as bailiff to the grand jury; Emil Ney, formerly Gear's bailiff is still basking in the sunshine of Judge Little's smiles in Hilo. In substance the charge made by Judge Gear to the grand jury was as follows: "Gentlemen of the jury. Under the United States constitution no person can be held for a capital or other infamous crime without presentment by grand jury. A grand jury has become necessary in this Territory, since annexation, the organic act providing that the provisions of the conare, as members of the grand jury stiution should be followed out. You charged to investigate cases brought before you by the Attorney General, who is the prosecuting officer, and it is for you to judge whether, after hearing the evidence for the prosecution, without rebuttal, there is probable cause for conviction by the trial jury. You gentlemen are not sitting as a trial jury, because you hear only one side of the case, and you do not convict a man; an indictment does not mean the finding of a man guilty, though a number of people seem to think so; it is not so, but merely a form which must be gone through before a man may be presented for trial in the circuit court.

"You are charged also not to present an indictment for malice or hatred towards anyone, or because you do not like a man personally, or he is opposed to you politically."

At this point in the proceedings there was an interruption, because of the neglect of the court to swear the jurymen, and this service was performed, Judge Gear then proceeding with his charge. He gave some general directions as to the number required for indictment, the necessity for secrecy in the proceedings, and the need of the presence of as many jurors as possible each day. Then he continued: "You are an inquisitorial body, as well as a body to find indictments. You are at liberty to investigate causes of a public nature which may cry for relief. I know of no special investigation which is required at this time. but you are at liberty to investigate any public office or any public institution. Any member of the grand jury who knows of any abuses may call them to the attention of his fellow members. In the past former grand juries have made prolonged and care-W. O. Smith Secretary ful investigations of the various public institutions, and made important recommendations. The reports of these grand juries are now on file in this court, and may be referred to for the purpose of further recommendations. Undoubtedly none of the things recom-Commission Merchants mended have been done by the authorities responsible.

"It is a condition and not a theory that now confronts us. There is not much money in the public treasury, I don't know whether there is anything, and we are on the verge of bankruptcy. at least as far as the circuit court is concerned. This is due I suppose to the extravagances of the circuit judges, according to report; the grand jury may investigate these things and can come into my chambers and look at the fine furniture purchased by myself, if it wishes. But regardless of the way this was done, there is no question but that the appropriation is woefully insufficient, and we may not be able to keep the court open for the whole

"I would call the attention of the grand jury then, to the men now in tail, some thirty or forty, who are awaiting your action. It was absolutely essential that the grand jury be called at this time to investigate these cases, in order that they may be either released or an indictment returned against them."

"I do not know of anything in the community at the present time which requires attention, unless perhaps it is politics, but that is outside of your line. You will devote yourself therefore to criminal cases and get through as quickly as possible, in order to reduce the amount that would otherwise be expended in holding the term. A number of the criminal cases have been continued until the November term, but I don't see how they are to be tried or heard at that time. I haven't seen any notice in the newspapers of an intention to call a special session of the OUR SODA WATER egislature, and I don't know whether there will be a November term or not." The grand jury began its labors imquarters in the new court room, which was formerly used as chambers by BETHEL ST Judge Humphreys.

........... The McKinley Park

Work on the McKinley Park will soon commence, as a large amount of money has been subscribed for that purpose. Its location being on King Street, and the additional fact that the PLEC. TRIC ROAD runs straight out has established this thoroughfare as the main avenue of Honolulu. The beautiful PAWAA TRACT lies mauka of this line, just beyond Waikiki Road. Lots in this location are the most desirable in Honolulu. On account of the sheltered condition of this Tract, it is free from the severe winds and rains that come down from the Manoa valley: yet it is subject almost continually to a mild, healthy breeze, rendering it from 10 TO 15 DECREES COOLER than Ewa of Punahou Street: On account of the low prices asked and the very small amount down and easy terms, the opportunity to purchase a beautiful home site comes within the reach of all; but after September 15th, the prices of these lots will be AD-VANCED 20 PER CENT. So now is your time to see
